How to enjoy this class – If I don't enjoy this class, then neither will you! I am very easy to get along with, but I have two pet peeves that will bring out the "evil" in me very quickly! One is not working. You cannot create quality projects if you don't work on them. This should be a "duh" idea, but amazingly, not everyone seems to understand this. This is an elective class, and students who want to be here have been turned away. This class is a privilege and you should make the most of your time. Therefore, if you chose not to work on ART then you will automatically be given ½ credit for the assignment. If you finish the assignment, then try doing the assignment again in a different way. If the due date is less than 2 days away then you can earn full credit for the assignment by working in your sketchbook.

My second pet peeve is bullies. I cannot tolerate hateful comments, racial slurs, or people who are just plain mean! So, to keep me happy, be nice. ☺ This concept of "being nice" carries over into your artwork and that of your classmates as well – be positive about their artwork as well as your own – there is always something positive to be found in each artwork (yes, even the "flops"!)

Grading Policy Your grade will be determined by a mixture of the following:

Projects/Tests
Class Participation
Visual Journals

Projects/Tests Your grade will be determined by your own individual growth as well as your work habits. Several mediums will be explored, including, but not limited to, drawing, painting, ceramics, mixed media, and sculpture. Tests will only be given if I feel they will reinforce presented materials. Each project MUST be accompanied by a self-evaluation.

Late Work I will give a due date when I determine when a majority of students will be finished. I will post the due date in advance, and this date will be the LAST CLASS DAY for you to work on that project. I will grade projects one week from the due date, so you have 7 days to complete your assignment on your own time without it affecting your grade. If you have trouble meeting the deadline you may discuss this with me prior to the deadline and you may be given an extension. After 7 days, a zero will be entered in the grade book.

Sketchbooks Assignments will be given for you to complete in your journals. Drawings are worth 10 points and are due on Fridays. Practice is the key to improving drawing skills and therefore an important part of this class. Drawings are graded according to effort, and not skill. You need to date each drawing and identify the assignment. Make up drawings for absences as well as extra credit drawings need to be identified (extra credit/make up for xx) and dated.

Supplies I will supply each student with a bag of painting supplies which will contain 2 paintbrushes and a paint palette with a lid. Students are responsible for returning the same items in good condition. There will be a $5 replacement charge. Students will need to supply a shoebox for storage. There will be no excuse for your items having been lost, stolen, or confiscated (in the case of your leaving your supplies lying on the counter, left on the table, or anywhere that requires me to have to pick up after you.

Extra Credit Students may turn in 3 extra credit drawings per 9 weeks. These must be done in their sketchbooks and are worth 5 points each. You need to sign, date, and identify as extra credit on the back of your drawing.

Class Rules

1. NO food or drinks allowed.
2. Treat your classmates, your teacher, and your projects with respect at all times.

3. Do not bring other assignments to class. Do not sleep. Do not sit and visit. Follow these and life will be good for both of us.
4. You will not be allowed restroom breaks during class. Don't ask. IF there is a medical condition you must inform me in advance.
5. Do your best. It will be good enough!
6. You will find that if you follow the guideline of "Do the Right Thing" there won't be any problems.

Waste Students who purposefully waste supplies or abuse these supplies will be denied access to those supplies.

Let's have an awesome, creative year!
